Dear Students,

Welcome to KGI!

I am delighted you have chosen KGI to pursue your graduate studies. Though challenging, you will find our curriculum to be highly rewarding, providing hands-on, team-based, and real-world experience to prepare you for leadership in the applied life sciences and healthcare industries. KGI faculty bring unparalleled expertise to the classroom, with novel instructional techniques including case studies, team projects, group presentations, and classroom discussions.

Beyond the classroom, KGI students enjoy a number of campus activities and special events, including lecture series and exciting networking opportunities with key executives and industry leaders. Our Career Services Office offers additional resources and support as you seek rewarding internships and careers as evidenced by our growing alumni network and their impact across the sector. KGI is a member of The Claremont Colleges, a consortium that offers students a wide range of opportunities, including resource centers, intramural sports, the Honnold Mudd Library, and much more.

In Fall 2018, we welcomed the first cohorts of students into four programs: Master of Science in Human Genetics and Genetic Counseling (MSGC), Master of Science in Human Genetics and Genomic Data Analytics (MSGDA), Master of Science in Translational Medicine (MSTM), and Post Baccalaureate Pre-PA Certificate Program (PPA).

Our curriculum continues to expand and strengthen as we find new ways to leverage industry relationships. This August, we are excited to welcome the first students of the Master of Science in Medical Device Engineering program!

As we shift to a residential campus, KGI’s first housing complex - the Oasis KGI Commons – is now open! It includes 419 beds, 10,000 square feet of classroom space, a swimming pool, fitness center, and BBQ area.

With an entrepreneurial approach and industry connections, KGI provides pathways for students to become leaders in applied life sciences and healthcare. “Innovators Start Here” is our tagline at KGI, and it will become your mantra as you embark on your newest journey toward personal and professional innovation.

I look forward to greeting you personally in just a few days. In the meantime, if you have any questions, or need any assistance, please do not hesitate to contact our admissions department.

Best regards,

Sheldon M. Schuster
